

Photo Matt Richards (Charlie Caffyn and his dog Jack); Emily Middleton

TRUE CRAFT

Let us introduce British artisan Charlie Caffyn who designs and hand makes bespoke solid wood furniture with architectural influences. The first addition of lighting to his collection explores architectural structure.

Left The Atworth desk lamp in walnut, from £250, was designed and handcrafted by Charlie Caffyn, working alongside lighting designer Deb Wythe of Design in Progress. Available at charliecaffynfurniture.co.uk

Photos Exterior view of Doshi's architectural studio by © Iwan Baan 2018; Salone del Mobile/Milano 2018; Nicola Cox of Cox London by Alun Callender

BALKRISHNA DOSHI: ARCHITECTURE FOR THE PEOPLE

With this exhibition, Vitra Design Museum in Germany is presenting the first international retrospective about 2018 Pritzker Prize laureate Balkrishna Doshi outside of Asia. The Indian architect's work will be showcased to a global audience. The retrospective follows four main themes including home and identity and it will also look at Doshi's educational buildings. The exhibition will take place from 30th March to 8th September 2019. design-museum.de

SALONE DEL MOBILE

This year marks the 58th edition of Salone del Mobile in Milan and it also sees the return of the biennial Euroluca and Workplace3.0 exhibitions. The show is renowned for its impressive array of products and brands on show on theatrical-style stands, with unmissable forward-thinking ideas at the forefront. It's one place where all kinds of people come together from all over the world from entrepreneurs and journalists to designers and architects. It will run from 9th to 14th April at Rho Fiera Milano. salonemilano.it

LONDON CRAFT WEEK 2019

Taking place over five days, London Craft Week will showcase craftsmanship and creativity from around the globe. There will be a focus on independent makers and sustainability, with exciting names in modern making taking part. Hundreds of dedicated destinations and venues will help host this one-of-a-kind festival, including galleries, retailers and studios in various areas of the city. It's taking place from 8th to 12th May and you can view the full programme of 240+ events online at londoncraftweek.com

For more cultural places to visit log on to enkimagazine.com